Introduction:

The OHS Regulations 2007 set out that a person must not do construction work at a workplace unless they have completed the WorkSafe Victoria approved 1-day Course in Construction (OH&S Induction). This training course is approved by, and meets the requirements of, WorkSafe Victoria relating to OHS induction training for the building and construction industry. On completion of this course you will be able to work at, or participate in, on-site activities at building and construction sites throughout Australia.

The topics covered include:

OHS regulatory framework	Employer & employee responsibilities
Common construction hazards	Employee OHS representation
Safe work method statements	Incident response requirements
Personal protective equipment	Principles of risk management

Who should attend?:

All persons who are required to work on a construction site, or who are seeking to work on a construction site, or participate in on-site activities. On completion of the course participants will receive a Construction Induction Card issued by WorkSafe Victoria.

Proof of identity requirement: A photo identification document (original) with attendee's name, date of birth, and signature must be brought by attendee to the training course. Example documents are Passport (not more than 2 years old), Australian Driver's Licence, Tertiary Student ID Card (with photo).

Enquiries regarding this course may be directed to Yan Guo on (03) 9427 7122.

Please post this registration form and cheque made payable to ERGOSH to: ERGOSH, Unit 2/75 River Street, Richmond 3121 or fax this registration form to (03) 9427 0311
